

Supporting Consumers Who Transition Out of Nursing Homes

There is great emphasis at the state and federal levels to increase choice in where a person receives long-term services and supports and move individuals out of nursing homes and into community settings. What is needed for a successful transition? The Consumer Voice interviewed numerous individuals who transitioned back to the community and heard from them about what worked, what didn't, and what could have been done better. During this webinar hear what consumers said about the transition process and discuss strategies for improvement. The webinar will also look at the roles of care partners and others, such as the long-term care ombudsman and transition coordinators, in supporting the individual.
